DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-13, drawn to a receptacle for use with a medical suction device

Group II, claim(s) 14-19, drawn to another receptacle for use with a medical suction device

2. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons.

3. Where the group of inventions is claimed in one and the same international application, the requirement for unity of invention referred to in Rule 13.1 shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among the inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features. The expression “special technical features” shall mean those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions considered as a whole, makes over the prior art.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, although they share the special technical feature, this special technical feature does not define a contribution over the prior art for the following reasons:

4. The common technical feature of an air-pervious/liquid-impervious element at least partly constituting at least a portion of a receptacle to be surrounded by a rigid case is known in the art. For example, Telang (US Patent 4,516,973) discloses a receptacle for use with a medical suction device, comprising:

a rigid case (col. 3, lines 15-22, Fig. 1, receptacle 12 formed of rigid plastic) and;
an air-pervious/liquid-impervious element having air perviousness and liquid imperviousness (col. 4, lines 17-26, Fig. 1, gas-pervious, liquid-impervious material 30), said air-pervious/liquid-impervious element at least partly constituting at least a portion of a receptacle to be surrounded by said rigid case (col. 3, lines 15-22, Fig. 1, container 14 in the form of a plastic bag and located within receptacle 12).

5. As a second example, Hessel (US Patent 4,111,204) discloses a receptacle for use with a medical suction device, comprising:

a rigid case (col. 2, lines 32-38, Fig. 1, rigid canister 14) and;
an air-pervious/liquid-impervious element having air perviousness and liquid imperviousness (col. 4, lines 24-31 and Fig. 1, air pervious – liquid impervious patch 58),

said air-pervious/liquid-impervious element at least partly constituting at least a portion of a receptacle to be surrounded by said rigid case (Fig. 1, patch 58 substantially located within canister 14).

6. Therefore, "an air-pervious/liquid-impervious element at least partly constituting at least a portion of a receptacle to be surrounded by a rigid case" does not provide a contribution over the prior art, and no single general inventive concept exists. Therefore the restriction is appropriate.

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
